

Structuring Your Document

Marshall Eriksen
Columbia University

1 Sections

Look at us, riding around in a limo, eating hot dogs...it's like we're the president.

1.1 Subsections

1.1.1 Subsubsections

My stomach was like, “Hey bro, I don’t know what you’re eating ’cause I don’t have any eyes but it’s basically awesome so keep sending it down Gullet Alley.” ”But don’t do quotes like this.””

Paragraph “She’s Like the Wind” has been stuck in my brain for about 40 hours. I just got it out; now it’s back in.

Subparagraph This is as deeply-embedded as it gets.

2 Itemize and Enumerate

- Why are Ewoks so awesome?
 - The Rebellion would have totally failed without Ewoks.

Penguins: are like Ewoks but without the fur.

- The Loch Ness monster:
 - Is totally real
 - * exists
 - is awesome.

1. Enumerate

- (a) Is useful for making outlines
- (b) and other things

References

You can refer to a reference with `\ref{}`, but then you must run `LATEX` twice to have it track the references for you. §?? was labeled, as was its daughter §§??.